TWO FREE LIBRARIES FOR THE POOR The good work being done by the Free Circulating Library was the subject of a recent article in The Tribune. Although not free to everybody in the same sense, yet the Apprentices' Library, at No. 18 East Sixteenth-st., is doing a work similar to that of the Free Circulating Library, and on a larger scale. J. Schwartz, the librarian of the Apprentices' Library, in speaking on this subject recently said:

prentices' Library, in speaking on this subject recently said:

"Our library is especially and almost exclusively intended for the working people. It is free to all females employed in any legitimate business, clerks under eighteen, and all males engaged in mechanical employments, without respect to age. There are no pay readers. The roll of readers annually amounts to over 8,500, and the circulation of volumes to 165,000. The only class excluded from the privileges are those not employed at all, such as students, gentlemen of leisure, etc., and those engaged in mercantile or professional pursuits over eighteen years of age. The library is therefore practically open to all the 'poor,' and only those are excluded who may be presumed to be able to pay for their reading in subscription libraries. Besides the library, there is a free reading-room, with an excellent reference library of nearly 5,000 volumes, which is open to the public without any restriction whatever as to employment, age or sex. All who choose, under the slight restrictions mentioned, can avail themselves of this collection of 65,000 volumes."

All who choose, under the slight restrictions mentioned, can avail themselves of this collection of 65,000 volumes."

Another library that is doing good work is that of the De Witt Memorial Church, at No. 280 Rivington-st. The Rev. James Marshall, the pastor of the church, recently said in regard to this subject: "Sunday-school libraries, as such, emasculate the minds of Sunday school readers as luxury effeminates the devotees of pleasure. The distribution of books on Sunday among the classes is one of the most abominable nuisances that ever interfered with efforts to teach. Hence we have no Sunday-school library or Sunday distribution, but a miscellaneous library composed of standard works of fiction, history, biography, travel, science and religion for the benefit of the Sunoay-school and the public of every creed and nationality. Every one is welcome to become a member, with the right to draw books, if trustworthy and observant of the rules. The De Witt Memorial Library is the only public library on the cast side."

Mr. Marshall said that Morris K. Jesup had paid for 500 out of the total of 1,600 volumes in the library. It is only open on Mondays and Thursdays. He added: "The library was opened for the public on April 1, 1882, and during that first month 252 books were drawn, an increase in six months of oneathousand volumes. Over 8,000 volumes have been drawn since the library was opened in April, and not one book has been 'ost. Great credit is due to the librarian, Miss Carrie M. Beaumont. There is no more interesting sight than the line of boys, girls, men and women that can be seen on Mondays and Thursdays, from 3 to 9 p. m., examining catalogues for books and waiting to be served. Forty-two per cent of the readers are adults and 58 per cent are youth. No took has been seriously damaged and not one lost."

In a receut pastoral letter to his church Mr. Marshall made the following reference to another work

In a recent pastoral letter to his church Mr. Mar-shall made the following reference to another work in behalf of the poor.

"The Tribune Fresh-Air Fund" was a great been to our children. One hundred and seventy-eight of our Sabbath-school spent thereby two weeks in the country. They travelled through to Pennsylvania, Connecticut, and to distant parts of New-York State. Twenty two scholars went to Schuyler Country, three hun red miles away, among the Quakers or Friends. They made many friends, and one boy remains among them till next summer. Our assistant workers labored night and day to hunt up and prepare those children for the country. Muss Beaumont often went with them, and saw them delivered into the care of their respective hosts, and then would go to them again, travelling all night two nights in succession. These ladies would prepare leiters cot ceruing every child, for the information of the people in the country who entertained them. It was a cause of great relief when the last child, by September 27, was back home again among its parents, wiser and better for the summer vacation.

A THIEVES' RESORT BROKEN UP.

Officer McCormick, of the Twentieth Precipct, yesterday morning arraigned before Justice Patierson, at the Jenerson Market Police Court, six rough-looking fellows and five dissolute women and girls against whom he preferred a general charge of disorderly conduct. The prisoners were all arrested on the premises No. 510 West Twenty-eighth-st., known to the police and in the neighborhood as "Ranch No. 10," a resort for thievas and other disreputable characters. Late on Saturday night Officer McCormick and seven other policemen visited the "Ranch" and arrested every one found therein. Officer McCormick stated that among the habitués of the place were a number of ex-convicts who had made themselves a terror to the neighborhood. The women prisoners were committed by Justice Patterson as vagrants and the men were fined $10 each and required to give ball in $500 for their good behavior for two months. Having neither money nor sureties they were locked up.

Captain Riley, of the schooner John N. Colby, which was wrecked off Cape Hatteras on Wednesday last, arrived here on Saturday on the steamer Rio Grande. The remainder of the crew, six seamen, arrived here last night on the bark Ecuador from Mayaguez. The John N. Colby was from Wilmington, N. C., for Baltimore, with a cargo of lumber. She encountered a gale on Tuesday last which caused her to spring aleak. The crew worked incessantly at the pumps until 1 a. m. on Wednesday, when the vessel was thrown on her beam ends. The seas broke over her and would have drowned all the crew if they had not lashed themselves fast. Signals of distress were displayed and ten hours afterward they were taken of by the bark. Afterward the deck load was swept from the schooner and she righted, but as she was waterlogged it was impossible to bring her into port.

DODGING ICEBERGS ON THE BANKS. DODGING ICEBERGS ON THE BANKS.

Cap tain Hebich, of the Wieland, reports that on Tuesday last between latitude 45° and 44° north, and longitude 48° and 50′ west, he passed twenty-five icebergs of various sizes, some of them at least 200 feet high. The vessel also encountered a large field of ice about 3:30 p.m., and after running southward for three hours saw an open space and ran through it. An Allan Line steamer and an "ocean tramp" were sighted on the same day dodging around the icebergs. They kept far to the southward of the field ice and were lost sight of. The temperature of the water was 31°, but the temperature of the atmosphere was below zero, in the vicinity of the ice. The Baltic passed three icebergs on Wednesday last, and kept far to the southward to avoid the field ice.

the case. Not more than one-third of the necessary amount has yet been subscribed.

"I think that the chief reason why the appeals of the committee have not been more generously responded to," said H. F. Spaulding to a Tribune reporter recently, "is that our chief appeal was made in the boliday season. We believe, however, that the full amount will be subscribed before next summer."

TEMPERANCE MEETINGS YESTERDAY. REFORMATION WORK IN THIS CITY AND BROOKLYN-

COMMENTS ON DR. CROSBY'S RECENT LECTURE.

The temperance services at Masonic Temple, Grand-st., Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon, were attended by a throng of men, women and children, who crowded that large hall to the doors. Mrs. M. E. Hartt. President of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union No. 2, presided, and several other women workers in the cause sat on the platform. After a service of song lasting half an hour, addresses in favor of prohibition were made by E. M. Taylor, of Monnt Vernon; ex-Judge Van Cott, of New-York, and the Rev. William H. Boole, of Brooklyn. Judge Van Cott claimed that license laws have been an absolute curse to the temperance cause, a mere compromise with evil. He said these laws have put off from time to time, and will put off forever if they continue to exist. the end which the temperance people have in view. The Rev. Mr. Boole said Dr. Crosby had delivered a lecture recently, entitled: "The Glory and the Shame of New-York," in which he said that the largest number of the liquor and lager-beer shops were in the hands of foreigners, and compared the coming over here of foreigners to open liquor stores to the going of thousands of Yankees to Dubhn or Hamburg to let loose thousands of rattlesnakes in the streets. Yet this is the man, said Mr. Boole, who asks that one liquor store should be beensed for every 500 inhabitants, or one to every 100 men. Mr. Boole said he wanted to take the part of the foreigners, for he knew that every one of them was in his native land when the Legislature passed the law giving them the right to stand behing their bars. Such advocates of temperance as Dr. Crosby were responsible for the existence of the ten thousand dans of vice of which he spoke.

perance of the ten thousand dens of vice of which he spoke.

The big Indian wigwam at Broadway and Thirty-fifth-st., was filed yes/erday afternoon and evening, gospel temoerance meetings being held under the auspices of the Doutney Gospel Temperance movement. New and novel teatures were presented. Mr. Doutney in the afternoon talked in a familiar way to his audience, and in the evening gave a new lecture, called "Murdered, and Kum Dhd It." The lecture abounded in thrilling incidents, and the speaker's fervent appeals to his hearers to come up and sign the pledge were rewarded with a large degree of success. The services were varied by singing and recitations by Mrs. Helen L. Doutney, Mrs. a. K. Hail, Miss Florence E. Bacon and Lattie Mabel Sevenson. The Olympian Colored Glee Club and the Olympian Colored Quintet added to the attraction of the gatherings. On week nights Mr. Doutney conducts services at the Union Tabernacle, Thirty-fifth-st., near Seventh-ave.

The temperance services yesterday at the Masonic Temple, under the direction of the Maubattan Temperance Association, consisted of a variety of musical selections by a colored gies club and by the cheir and addresses on the question of problems. perance Association, consiste or a large cal selections by a colored give club and by the choir and addresses on the question of prohibition. The Rev. Dr. Dick, of Buffalo, spoke of "The first drunkard." It was to be inferred from the Scriptures, he said, that Noah was the first drunkard, but he hardly believed that the devil allowed the interval between the creation and the flood to pass without introducing rum. He did not want to be hard on Noah, even though the first thing he did when he came out of the ark was to plant a viaeyard and get drunk. He failed to see why the key. Dr. Crosby did not appreciate the harm in wine and beer. He honored Dr. Crosby, and he wanted his hearers to honor him, but it seemed to him that every grog-shep in the country might be desiroyed by the introduction of wine into the family. He did not want the devil in a dilutes state; his desire was to meet him naked.

The auditorium of Cooper Institute was filled with people last night. Miss Irwin sang several solos. Mr. Sawyer delivered a discourse on "Spiritual Blindness." REMOVING ACCUMULATED STREET DIRT. REMOVING ACCUMULATED STREET DIRT.

The snow of yesterday was not sufficiently heavy to impede street cleaning operations. Broadway was swept before midnicht of Saturday from the Baitery to Thirty-fourth-si. The work of removing the accumulations of dirt from Fourth, Sixth, Seventh and Eighth aves, was continued yesterday. The dirt had previously been gathered up in pites. This is the first time that there has been an opportunity to clean the avenues since the cold weather of January. Some of the side streets in the Fourth and Sixth Wards are in bad condition, and the same is time of many of those uptown. Most of the Italian laborers employed in trimming and unloading the scows still remain obstinate and will not resume work unless given as advance in wages. Their places have been partly filled by new men. The delay in getting the scows to sea has retarded street cleaning.

THE FIRST SUNDAY OF SPRING.

THE FIRST SUNDAY OF SPRING.

The fourth day of spring dawned cold and drearily yesterday, with cutting winds sweeping through the streets and avenues. Then it grew warmer and with the change in temperature the wind moderated. Then came the snow. The flakes were large and they fell thick and fast, and in spite of the fact that they melted rapidly on the moist earth, the city was soon covered with white. It was prety and poetical, but singested wet feet and influenza. At noon it was snowing as if it never meant to stop, but by 3 o'clock the snow had ceased falling and the clouds began to break. They piled themselves up along the horizon, where just enough of them remained at sunset to add gorgeousness to the glorious death of a day which had begun life so gloomily.

MR. CAULFIELD'S SICK HORSES.

George Caulfield, Commissioner of Jurors, has, within the last two months, lost five out of eleven of his horses on his farm at White Plains,

"The cause of this," Mr. Caulfield said to a TRIBUNE reporter yesterday, "was the old spinal meningitis. About eight weeks ago the disease attacked my horses; they would fall within from three to five days, and then die in a short time. The disease began with their kidneys, extended to and up the spinal column, and then went to their brains, so that the horses gradually lost their senses. It finally affected their throats, so that they could neither eat nor drink. They would go through all the motions of swallowing, but nothing would pass down their throats. The last horse died a week ago. The horses lost were working animals, which I took from the city in November. The disease finally took hold of my favorite horse, Shoefly, and I at once procured a trained man to nurse the animal. He watched sharply ten days and ten nights, and finally ne has brought him through all right. He did this by careful nursing, steaming all the food in bazs which were drawn over the horse's head, the object being to keep the head and throat moist, although I could discover very little soreness of the throat. The stables, moreover, were thoroughly finnigated."

Mr. Caulfield could not tell the cause of the disease in Westchester County. At the New-York Asyium farm the State Examiners found all the cattle affected. None of my cattle and horse was attacked, however. I can find no special reason for the sickness of my horses. The stables are kept particularly clean and the water is excellent. I have been trying the ensilage system with all my stock, and have had excellent success with it with my cows and hogs. As soon as the horses were taken down, I changed their food, I cannot say that they were attacked by the disease because I fed them on ensilage."

Doyle suspected that the dog was stoen, and called an officer, who took Horan and the dog to the station-house, where they were detained for the night. On the dog's neck was a collar bearing the following inscription: "Black Jack, the Grenpoint Champion Dog of the King, Owned by P. J. G., 194 West-st., Gpt., L. 1." Horan explained to the Justice that the dog had followed him, but neglected to add that he did so at the end of a st-ut cord. The presoner was locked up to await the appearance of black Jack's master.

AN INSANE MAN STARTS A FERRYBOAT.

John A. McGeady, of No. 58 East Broadway. New-York, an employe in the Central Railroad Company's gas works at Communipaw, N. J., hecame seized with a suiden freak of insanity yesterday morning and nearly ended his life. While he was emptying the retorts about 6:30 o'clock, an idea struck him that an explosion was about to occur, and he ran out of the building without watting to put on his coat or shoes and stockings. Barefooted and bareheaded McGeady ran through the snow in the direction of the ferry and made his way on board the boat Central, which was laid up, but had steam up ready to start on her first trip.

With the idea of getting as far away as possible from the explosion uppermost in his mind, McGeady untied the boat and started the engine. The pilot and engineer who were sleeping on board, were awakened by the motion of the boat, and were amazed on looking out to find her going in the direction of New-York. The engineer stopped the engine, and the pilot went to the pilot house, and finding McGeady there, took him down stairs.

In the hurry the engine had been stopped on the centre, and the pilot and engineer were obliged to go down to work her off. In their absence McGeady immed into the river and swam roward the dock. He was almost exhausted when he was picked up by a dock hand named Stevens and a watchman named McKain, who went to his assistance in a row boat. He was taken at once to the Charity Hospital, where he now lies in a critical condition, in consequence of the exposure and cold bath.

FOILED BY THE LACK OF A FEW CENTS.

A large trunk was standing on the sidewalk near the Pennsylvania Railway baggage-room, Jersey City, yesterday morning, when a man came along and arranged with a hackman to take him and the trunk to No. 250 West-st., New-York. When the hack reached the ferry gate, the man requested the driver to pay the ferriage, promising to return it to him in New-York. The driver refused, and as the man had no money the trunk was taken back and put on the sidewalk again. The nan then employed another backman who agreed to pay the ferriage. They were just about going through the gate, when Officer Miller jumped into the coach and directed the driver to go to the police station. There the man gave his name as Francis Cleary and pretended to be greatly surprised on seeing the trunk in the back. He denied all knowledge of it, and said that he merciy employed the driver to take him to New-York. The Philadeiphia.
